BRYAN SPEAKS AT A DOLLAR DINNER

and to reform the abuses which have grown out of Republican legislation and administration, and these two things are, first, a platform specifically pledging the party to clearly defined reforms, and, second, the nomination of a ticket composed of men imbued with a spirit of reform.

"If, in the coming campaign, the Republicans have an ambiguous platform, filled with glittering generalities, and fragrant with bouquets thrown at the Republican party, a Republican President elected upon it would be as powerless as the present President has been. I am not sure, for what has the President succeeded in doing? There are more trusts today than there were when he entered the office, and he has never succeeded in getting a law enacted that would strengthen the present law. He has not succeeded in putting a trust manager in the penitentiary, and the only law that has been imposed has aroused more criticism than commendation among Republican leaders.

What He Has Not Done.
"He has not secured any tariff reform, and yet he has been in office for seven years. He has not secured the enactment of the necessary labor legislation. He has not secured an income tax, and the Republican Senators forced him to a compromise on the railroad question.

"But even a good platform would be worthless without a candidate who embodies the spirit of the platform. And what candidates have they?
"The President has picked out Secretary Taft, and given him the support of his administration. He has no record as a reformer and his speeches do not indicate a definite purpose or a courageous program. In fact, the widespread reform sentiment among the Republican masses is not reflected in any considerable extent among Republican leaders. What does Secretary Taft stand for? What does he denounce as wrong? What does he propose as a remedy?

"What would he do with the trusts? He tells us that he would not exterminate them, but give them relief. What does he propose on the tariff question? Revision—but not until after the election.

"What reform does Secretary Taft propose for the benefit of labor?

"The laboring men insist that they are entitled to a jury, but Secretary Taft went all the way to Oklahoma to find fault with a provision in the Oklahoma Constitution securing this protection to the laboring men.

Growth of Imperialism.
"What relief does Secretary Taft propose to give us from the burdens which imperialism has imposed upon the country? The appropriation for the army and navy has increased more than a hundred millions a year since we entered upon our colonial experiment. Our army is more than twice as large as it was in 1896, and we are still denying the Philippine Islands the doctrine set forth in the Declaration of Independence, that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

"What is Secretary Taft going to do on the railroad question?

"In one speech, he took occasion to explain that the President was not responsible for rate reductions; this would indicate that Secretary Taft would not favor rate reduction. Is he in favor of authorizing the Interstate Commerce Commission to ascertain the present value of the railroad? Is he willing to prevent the future issue of watered stock? Does he urge reduction in freight and passenger rates, wherever and whenever such reductions can be made without injustice to honest investments? He has given no assurance on these questions, and we must judge what he would do by what he now says or fails to say.

"If when he is trying to secure the support of reform Republicans he is so evasive on the subject, what could we expect of him if he were elected?

Asks Taft Questions.
"Does Secretary Taft favor the national incorporation of railroads as suggested by the President? Would he favor a law withdrawing from the States their control over railways and vesting exclusive control in the Federal government? And if he favors national incorporation, would he be in favor of giving the railroads a perpetual franchise and a perpetual guarantee of income? If not, will he explain why he will be more unjust to the Filipinos than to the people of his own country?

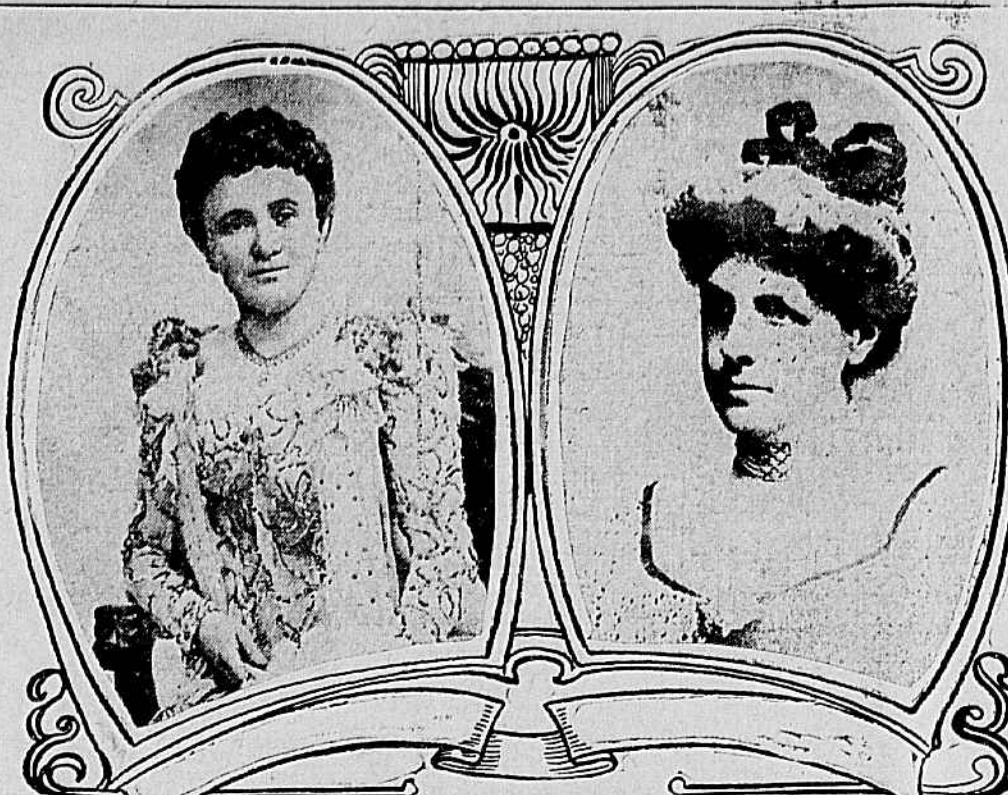

"What chance of reform is there at the hands of Republican leaders, who take the side of corporations against the people and act upon the theory that Indemnities must be held out to capital, no matter how great the burdens imposed upon the producers of wealth?" asked Mr. Bryan in conclusion.

"There is no doubt that the masses of the people, Republican and Democrat, are in favor of reform. If we can only convince the voters that the Democratic party will be true to reform, victory is assured, and the only way in which we can convince the public that we honestly desire to administer the government in behalf of the people is to give them an honest platform, employ honest arguments and conduct a campaign by honest methods and through an honest organization."

Mr. Harmon then delivered an address.

HEARST NOT TO BE CANDIDATE

Editor Graves Declares His Chief Will Not Head Independence Ticket.

NORFOLK, March 30.—John Temple Graves, editor-in-chief of the New York American and Hearst papers, who was in the city to-day en route to his old home, Atlanta, Ga., on a visit, in an interview declares that while the Independence League will take no part in the coming national campaign, and will have a national ticket for President and Vice-President, William Randolph Hearst will not be either of the candidates.

Mr. Graves explains that Mr. Hearst will not be the leader, because of the fact that as leader in the movement he might be said that the movement was organized for personal ends. He will, however, take an active part in the campaign for the Independence candidates, and his newspapers will advocate their election.

Mr. Graves declares that the policies to be advocated by the new party will probably crystallize at the forthcoming meeting of the leaders of the movement, to be held in New York on April 27th, and that the national executive committee will probably call a national convention for Chicago, following the Republican convention.

Mr. Graves attacks the old parties, declaring that they are controlled by the trusts and moneyed interests of the nation, and that the people have little hope of securing any relief from them.

He Believes that Taft will secure the Republican nomination and Bryan the Democratic. Mr. Graves predicts that the Independence party will show marvelous strength, and that if not in the coming election, they will win in the election four years hence.

DR. DAVID JANE HILL.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The latest gossip in Berlin makes war between two women the cause of the reported attitude of the Kaiser toward the appointment of Dr. Hill. It is reported that Hill feeling has existed between Mrs. Charlemagne Tower and Mrs. Hill for a long time, and that the former having great influence with the Kaiser induced him to make an expression of his personal regret that Tower was to be replaced by Dr. Hill. This expression, it is believed, formed the basis for Tower's cablegram to his government, stating that Dr. Hill would not be acceptable to the German Emperor.

He believes that Taft will secure the Republican nomination and Bryan the Democratic. Mr. Graves predicts that the Independence party will show marvelous strength, and that if not in the coming election, they will win in the election four years hence.

Melodrama at the Bijou.

Willie Live seems to be able to live forever. He presented himself at the Bijou last night in "The Boy Detective," and his reception was unanimous from the orchestra as well as the gallery. All the Blaney shows draw well at the Bijou, and this new one, with Harry Blaney in the stellar part, was the real hit of all of the Willie Live plays. What was most noticeable in the play was the fact that there was no Gatling gun. But there were enough pistol shots to make up the difference, and it was probably that fact that made the piece a success.

The gun play has about had its day. The sudden display of fire, even though it emanates from a Gatling gun, has about played out in the melodrama, and the only thing now that thrills is the villain who says "curses on you" every now and then. Harry Blaney has realized that and eliminated the Gatling effect.

The play took well with the audience. There was a lot of applause at the proper time when the detective made himself the "Johnnie on the Spot." He was generally there.

Miss Kittie Wolfe, as Madge Bond, was a good second to the star, and did a dance that was fetching enough to attract the attention of the average vaudeville audience.
